SLUGGIN' AN' SLUGGIN'.

O'Keefe Pounds Bradshaw All Over the Stage.

GOES HOME WITH ALL THE HONORS

The Sheriff and the Chief of Police Present at the Sparring Match and Nothing Happens Worse Than a Bloody Nose.

Two hundred men and about twenty Kansas City sports, marched up to Hamilton hall last evening and after a very weak glove contest, marched down again very much disgusted.

The little game that the managers put up by whispering about the contest would be a regular prize fight and work to perfection as it only got a fair sized audience into the hall. It did not take long to prove that the contest was for points and not for a knockout, although Bradshaw got knocked out of the ring twice. In fact, Mr. Bradshaw thought perhaps it was a prize fight before he got through.

It was 8 o'clock when Sheriff Wilkerson and four deputies climbed the steps into the hall and then the crowd began to file in.

At the head of the stairs stood Kid Wilson, a "sport" from New Orleans, who took the tickets. "Kid" looked a typical speed ring jockey.

The twenty representatives of "the talent" of Kansas City all occupied seats upon the stage and lent aid and comfort to O'Keefe. Among the crowd were Billy Foster, Pat Purcell, who rights two, Durgin at Leavenworth, whom who wears the title of "Saginaw Kid," James Whitfield, sporting editor of the Kansas City "Star," and Clyde Johnson of the "Times" also sat on the stage.

About 9 o'clock Police Captain Gish, Sergeant Donovan and Officer Blumentstock entered the hall and took seats in the rear.

The entertainment opened with a very "ouchy" exhibition of skill, or want of it, by Kid Madoulet and Lee Carr. The exhibition was painful to the audience and it ended with greeted with loud signs of relief. The contest of the evening was between O'Keefe, Bradshaw of Topeka and John O'Keefe of Kansas City.

The stars acted like amateurs in getting on the stage and kept the audience waiting until 9:10 before they put in an appearance. Both are featherweights, O'Keefe and an easy time and simply played with Bradshaw throughout the entire match. At the end of the first round Bradshaw had a "red" nose and at the end of the 5th his eyes were in mourning.

When the contestants entered the ring Geo. Hoddling and Bradshaw were second and both holder for Bradshaw, and Kid Wilson and Pat Purcell for O'Keefe.

Bradshaw drank whiskey at the end of every round and was fairly exhausted at the end of the 5th. O'Keefe was smiling and pleasant throughout and didn't take a drink during the contest.

Kid Wilson, just before the match began, said to the spectators, "The chief of police told me that there would be no interference if there was no noise, and if you have sense enough not to cheer you can witness the match without police interference. The contract is for points only and no stakes except the gate receipts."

O'Keefe's backers told the JOURNAL reporter that the articles of agreement called for a fifteen round finish, with a complete knock out and that the stakes were $250 a side and gate receipts.

Joe Fiedelberg was made referee, and President Goodwin of the Leavenworth Athletic association timer.

The fight by rounds.

At 9:30 the contestants shook hands, and the contest began.

First round—O'Keefe did all of the leading, and Bradshaw simply played the defense. No blows rights or left were struck, but Bradshaw's nose was bleeding from a blow.

Second—A little more exciting with three break-aways and a give and take with Bradshaw as here.

Third—O'Keefe still forcing and Bradshaw knocked out of the ring by a straight.

Fourth—O'Keefe still playing with Bradshaw, the referee falls down in attempting to separate a break-away.

Fifth—O'Keefe forces Bradshaw to side time and time again, and puts his left eye in mourning by a left and landed several in body—Ended.

Sixth—Bradshaw gets a powerful right in face and O'Keefe forces Bradshaw all over the ring.

Seventh—O'Keefe shows his superior ring experience and is hammering away at Bradshaw's body and face.

Eighth—O'Keefe slams referee one in face for getting in the way and breaks through him for Bradshaw.

Ninth—Bradshaw didn't know where his seat was at end of ninth, after repeated blows in face.

Tenth—In the tenth Bradshaw gets in a powerful right in O'Keefe's face.

Eleventh—Bradshaw forces and attempts an unsuccessful back strike. O'Keefe slips and Bradshaw gets in a left.

Twelfth—Bradshaw puts in a few straight but the blows lack force.

Thirteenth—Bradshaw gets a big tip and bleeding mouth.

Fourteenth—No hits, simply playing around ring.

Fifteenth—At the opening of fifteenth O'Keefe appears before the audience and says he can't afford to slug, as the agreement prohibits it. The announcement is hissed, and he enters with determination.

Both get in about the same number of straight and contest ends.

Fifteenth—Bradshaw announces a draw, as he said the articles of agreement called for a knock-out.

TO PASS THE PLEDGES.

Temperance People to Circulate Teetotalism Promises

TO BE SIGNED BY THOSE WHO WISH.

The Speakers Did Not Confine Themselves to Moral Sanction and Bishop Vincent Said They Ought Not to Keep Prohibition in Politics.

Total abstinence was almost side-tracked last evening at the total abstinence mass meeting at the Methodist church, prohibition was more talked about by the speakers.

The Shawnee County Phoenix of Temperance workers, is the name of the total abstinence society formed at the mass meeting, whose purpose it is to make a complete canvass of the city and county with total abstinence pledges on one side of which is the 19th century pledge, the signers of which pledge themselves to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage the remainder of this century and on the other side is a life pledge. A committee of fifteen prominent temperance workers was appointed to district the city and county and carry on a complete canvass. The plan suggested is to get all store keepers to ask their employees to sign the pledge, and some Santa Fe officials to carry on the work among the Santa Fe employees and then continue the work into every home in the city and county. The object of getting employees to do this is to bring to bear the pressure which every employer exercises to a greater or less extent over his employees, and induce them to sign whether they secretly desire to or not. The result will be, of course, in many cases that the employee will break his pledge on the day it is signed by many as merely an encouragement to deception and hypocrisy. The proposition to make store keepers and Santa Fe officers the guardians of morals for their employees, met with considerable opposition from some of the persons at the meeting. Every man should be a perfectly free agent in signing a pledge, it was thought.

Some of the temperance workers thought that a total abstinence campaign is the only true way to make prohibition a success and to keep the law upon the statute book. It has also been suggested that such a campaign could be conducted at the time of the convention of the different political parties that even the Democratic party would be afraid to oppose prohibition.

The originators of the meeting wanted to conduct it simply on its moral phase and not let political questions enter into the meeting at all.

Chief Justice Horton in the opening remarks defended the prohibitory law as it stands upon the statute books, and showed what a benefit it had been to the state.

Albert Griffin, the prime mover of the cry for a total abstinence campaign, confessed his remarks almost entirely to the moral phase of the question, and said there were fewer total abstainers today than ever before, and as drinking increased it rendered it much more difficult to enforce the prohibition law. "The only way to have successful prohibition," continued Mr. Griffin, "is to keep up the campaign of total abstinence."

Addresses were also delivered by D. C. Milner, D. C. Tiltonson, L. A. Stebbins and Bishop Vincent.

Bishop Vincent thought that the political parties should take up prohibition and advocate it more than ever.

After the addresses the pledges were passed around and about 200 of them were signed, of course, by people who don't drink, which is the general result of passing temperance pledges.

This afternoon the committee are in session at the Y. M. C. A. rooms mapping out the plan of the campaign.

CHIEF LINDSEY'S PARTY.

He Entertains a Few Friends in Grand Style Last Evening.

Chief of Police H. C. Lindsey gave a party to a few of his gentlemen friends last night, in honor of the year 1894.

High five was the game in which the skill of the guests was tested and it was found that Lee Jones and Brigadier General Sears of Lawrence, surpassed all the rest. At a late hour Mrs. Lindsey threw open the dining room, where a feast was spread that surpassed anything in Topeka for many a day.

Those present were: Governor L. D. Leawell, Auditor Prather, Insurance Commissioner Sulder, Brigadier General Sears, Police Commissioner L. T. Young, Frank Herald, Lee Jones, George Wolf and M. E. Stoker.
